Judges Select Joyce Sizemore As 1970 Miss Winthrop

Joyce Sizemore was crowned "Miss Winthrop College" Thursday evening in the annual contest held in Byrnes Auditorium. Crowning Miss Sizemore was Pres. Davis.

The sophomore elementary education major from Greenwood represented Roddey Hall.

First runner-up was Patsy Harper, representing the Town Students Association. Laura Morton, Jane McCord, and Cheryl Martin completed the five finalists.

Becca Allen was selected "Miss Congeniality."

The selection of "Miss Winthrop" was based upon a 30-point system: 10 points for beauty, 10 points for campus participation, 5 points for personality, and 5 points for intelligence.

Glittered white, blue, and silver fir trees carried out the "Time of the Season" theme. Glittered blue snowflakes decorated the curtains.

Emceeing the contest were Betty Ann Jordan, Coleen Warren, and Brian Ward. Entertainment was provided by the Winthrop Dance Group and soloists Angie Gill and Brian Ward.

Contest proceeds will establish a scholarship offered to incoming freshman. The scholarship will be awarded on the basis of school participation and academic achievement.

Advisors, Students Meet For Spring '70 Pre-Registration

Pre-registration for second semester gets underway next week. Group meetings begin the Pre-Registration period. These meetings are to be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, Nov. 17 and 18 at 7 p.m. The purpose of these meetings is to give advisors and students contact early in the period, says Dr. Powell, Guidance and Placement Department head. "At this time they accomplish many of the common elements of planning. Individual appointments can be scheduled later in the pre-registration period as needed."

Pre-Registration affects the necessary planning for the spring semester, Dr. Powell continued. "It provides a certain amount of information to schedule classes in the following semester."

Department heads receive the approximate number of students who plan to take each course; therefore, course planning is more accurate. Dr. Powell encourages students to attend the meetings and complete the forms, even if a student plans to transfer. The Group meetings schedule will appear in the next issue of THE JOHNSONIAN.

Blue Artist Series Opens

The Winthrop College Blue Artist Series opened last Tuesday evening with the Abbey Singers. Performing in Johnson Auditorium the quintet of concert and opera soloists gave vocal chamber music selections. Their concert repertoire included madrigals, motets, anthems, chansons, villancicos, fuging-tunes, quartets, folk songs and just about every form of solo-ensemble music imaginable.

Organized in 1960 by the late Noah Greenberg, the Abbey Singers is composed of five concert soloists. Vocalists include soprano John Ferrante, contralto: Marshall Thomas baritone, and William Wieder- anders, bass.

The quintet replaced the usual alto voice and tenor special authenticity to their performance of early music.

Winthrop Presents Exhibit

Dr. Kenneth Clifford Laughlin, professor of Textiles, will be in charge of a booth representing textile education at Winthrop at the national meeting of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists in Charlotte, November 12-15, announced Dr. Ruth Horvath, Dean of Home Economics. Dr. Laughlin, assisted by students of Home Economics 515, will give information about an exhibit representing Winthrop textile education, textile research programs and potential. From Greenville, graduate student, attending in planning and preparing the exhibit. Students serving as hostesses will include: Judy Anderson, Cynthia Bagwell, Karen Curtis, Vickie Edwards, Betty Ann Jordan, Elaine Lane, Also, Rosemary Moody, Stephanie Pollock, Susan Tate, Celeste Williams, Carolyn Blislock, Traci Novak. The Winthrop booth will feature a carpet weaving machine used in a research study on carpet wear performance. The booth will be part of a group representing textile education in the area; other schools participating are Auburn, Clemson and North Carolina State. Exhibits will be displayed in the Merchandise Mart and a full schedule of technical papers will be presented in the adjoining auditorium and in the White House.

Come Communicate: "TJ" Staff Initiates Recruitment Tonight

THE JOHNSONIAN NEEDS YOU! If you're TONIGHT! ANYTIME, AT YOUR CONVENIENCE, BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 6 AND 10 P.M. WHERE? THE JOHNSONIAN ROOM, located on SECOND FLOOR DINKINS.

Ab yes, why... Just WHY does THE JOHNSONIAN want YOU? You are an individual unlike anyone else in the world and you have ideas.

with THE JOHNSONIAN, MUST COME TONIGHT between 6 and 10 p.m.

COME to talk for a few minutes, come to take a study break, come to check your mail, JUST COME! The News Writing course will not be offered next semester; therefore the need for news writers is great. Each week certain departments must be visited to check for news. In newspaper slang, this is covering beats.

It is an opportunity for you to write about the field in which you are majoring—the field that interests you most. It is the chance to get acquainted with the faculty in your field. Perhaps business is "your thing". Do it with the TJ and its advertising department. Art is your love? And you are a good doodler? The TJ can put you to work on cartoons. Maybe you aren't the artist type, but you have original ideas to be put on paper... THE JOHNSONIAN WANTS YOU, TOO! Is there a column idea you've had for weeks? Great! Let's hear it! You could be the newest addition to the TJ... as a columnist. Hmmm? You see the light side of everything? The TJ wants more of it. THERE IS A PLACE FOR YOU. Come find it! JOIN THE TJ STAFF AND GO CREATIVE!

Faculty Members Attend Meetings

Four faculty members from the School of Education will study at Workshop on Comprehensive Elementary Teacher Education Models November 16-18 in Atlanta, according to Dr. Jack Boger, Dean of the School of Education. Those attending will be Dr. Boger; Dr. Rosemary Albouze, assistant professor of Education; Dr. Martha Bishop, professor of Education; and Dr. Patricia McIndoo, associate professor of Education. The Institute is sponsored by American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. Models of new elementary education programs produced by nine institutions under U. S. Office of Education grants will be discussed. Dr. Boger said, Winthrop is using aspects of several of these models in a pilot project for a new elementary education major being directed this year by Dr. McIndoo.

Four delegates from the School of Education attended the joint fall meeting of the State Association for Student Teaching and S. C. Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development November 7 in Columbia, according to Mr. J. J. Godbold, associate professor of Education and director of student teaching. Those who went were Dr. Jack Boger, Dean of the School of Education; Dr. Martha Bishop, professor of Education; Dr. James Colbert, associate professor of Education; and Mr. Godbold. AST is an organization dealing with student teaching problems. ASCS is primarily concerned with curriculum development.

Art Gallery Opens Show

The Winthrop Art Gallery opened Wednesday, Nov. 5 with an exhibition of 16 contemporary American posters. On display are the works of such contemporary artists as Robert Indiana, Bridget Riley, Andy Warhol and Roy Lichtenstein. Also Jasper Johns, Joseph Albers, and Robert Rauschenberg. The original posters are on loan from Davidson College. Rob Williams, gallery director, said. The exhibition will continue until November 26. A reception was sponsored by the Winthrop Fine Arts Association Wednesday evening, following the opening.

Tillman Houses Stocks, Past Swimming Pool

BY SARAH POMER

Back in the late 1890's when Winthrop Normal and Industrial School was moved from Columbia to Rock Hill, the first building to be erected was Tillman Hall.

Tillman Hall was built by convict labor. About one hundred convicts at a time were quartered in railroad cars on the train tracks on back campus.

Tillman Hall was described like this in an early Winthrop Catalogue: "The main building is a grand and imposing edifice, fronting 200 feet and extending 90 feet, with a large chapel in the center of the rear, with a seating capacity of 1,200. It is three stories high above the basement, with an additional attic story, and contains over forty large rooms exclusively for school and industrial work. In addition to ample provision for academic, normal and industrial work, a library, museum, art and society halls have been provided."

"In the main building are the President's and Secretary's rooms, reception parlors, chemical and physical laboratories, practice school room, gymnasium, a very large well lighted and insulated dining room, music rooms, cloak rooms, and closets."

At this time Margaret Vance was the only dormitory, but McLaren was built not long afterward.

If you go to the basement of Tillman, on the side opposite the Business Office, you can find a storage room which still has a lot of old stocks. The stocks were used when the convicts were not obeying orders. They are made of wood, and are so situated that the convicts would have to stand up with his hands in the hand holes.

While in the basement, by going through the ladies room, you can see what was once the first Winthrop swimming pool. The pool is not at all like the modern one in Peabody Gymnasium. The pool, which is located under the main steps in front of Tillman is quite small. It is barely wider than an arm span, however, it is about twenty feet long. The girls had to enter the pool through an arch way.

The pool was not used for a very long time. According to the Bishop of the Archdiocese, the pool was at that time much nicer than it is now as a storage floor, above that there are still several floors in the low-lying old clock works may be found on the first floor above Mr. del Cimmuto's studio. Above that is a room just under as "a large room at 10 feet, has been specially constructed for a gymnasium. It is filled up with the best appliances for the physical culture of women, according to the Swedish or Ling System."

Joining the gymnasium, and a part of it, is a room 20 x 20 feet, for lockers and shower baths. A large swimming pool has also been provided in connection with the gymnasium.

The first library was housed in Tillman on the second floor, in 1894 or 1895 the first Winthrop Training School was located on the first floor of Tillman in what is now the Alumni Office and Honors Rooms.

The President's Guidance and Placement office was at one time the Winthrop Post Office, and Book Store. The old Book Store was not so well stocked as the one in Perkins. It carried only school supplies and books and some stationery.

The third floor has always housed the Art Department, but in earlier days it also housed the Literary societies, The Werry, the Hampton, and Winthrop Literary Societies took the place of the many clubs Winthrop now has.

Classes were held throughout Tillman Hall. Due to the expansion of Winthrop some classes were even held in the attic.

Chapel was always a large part of the Winthrop student's life many years ago. Students were required to attend chapel each day. The Winthrop students would form a line, like our first Sunday Church line, and then file into the chapel together. Before going into the chapel the students were inspected to see that they were wearing the proper length, the proper width, the proper color, and the proper style of dress. The chapel which is now Tillman Auditorium, was at one time much smaller. Upon close inspection you can see where the addition was made. At one time the auditorium-chapel was just a small room with a platform at the front. The addition was made to supplement the existing electric lights, in the fear that there would be a fire.

The attic and tower of Tillman Hall have been closed off for many years, however, with special permission it is possible to go up.

Hallowe'en Special

Thompson and McBride Cafeterias were filled with spooky goblins, ghosts and witches October 31 when Sam Food Service held its annual Hallowe'en special event of the semester. The cafeteria was decorated with black cats and witches. Student servers wore colorful goblin, witch and hobo costumes.

Hamburgers, corn dogs, hot dogs, potato sticks were served. There were also booths, cotton candy, roasted peanuts and snowballs.

A cake walk contest was held with strawberry cakes being given to the winners. Other contests included dart throwing, weight guessing and ball throwing. Winning students received candy and stuffed animals as prizes.

Notes for the annual Thanksgiving and Christmas events will be announced later.

Dr. Harrar Explains Lounge Locations In Dacus Library

Dr. Joanne Harrar, Librarian, explained the location of the lounge facilities in Dacus Library.

Smoking is permitted in the smoking lounges which are located on each floor. Water fountains are located in each lounge, and rest room facilities are adjacent to each lounge. There is a pay telephone in the study area of the second floor lounge.

Dr. Harrar said eventually lounge furniture as well as study furniture will be available in these areas.

People In Print

"People in Print" appears in THE JOHNSONIAN for the first time this week with plans for continuation throughout the year. Actually this column has several purposes which are intertwined. Each week a student, chosen at random, will be brought to attention. It is the hope of the TI staff that acquaintances will arise from this column. A little idealistic perhaps, but maybe you will strike up a conversation with "Hoy, don't I see your picture in last week's TI?" Yes, perhaps a little idealistic, and yet...

Since north and south campuses divide freshman and upperclassmen, the TI staff hopes that "People in Print" can be a link between the two—giving freshmen the opportunity to meet upperclassmen and vice versa.

In the coming months the TI will change its image. "People in Print" is just the beginning.

Meet Susan Peninger. Susan is a freshman at Winthrop this year, majoring in medical technology.

Susan hails from Georgetown, S. C., and her secret is a dead give away.

Close friends know Susan only by her delightful nickname, "Tippy," which reveals her amiable nature and affectionate spirit.

Susan does have a few unusual abilities one of which is ballet. Her first, then calmly insuring it into her mouth. How just how many people do you know who can perform such a feat? Well, add one more, Tippy.

Just off think of the advantages, like at Hallowe'en. She doesn't waste precious time bobbing for apples. Up with an apple the first time.

Tippy has a more serious side, too. When asked why she chose Winthrop for her college career, Susan replied without hesitation, "My sister, Judy, is here and she likes it. And Winthrop has a good reference department."

Susan has a keen interest in athletics. At Vardell Hall Susan played left guard on the basketball squad. She enjoys all outdoor and water sports, but at Winthrop Tippy is frequently found in a bridge foursome.

Just a freshman Susan has not yet become involved in campus organizations, but at Vardell Hall (a girls' prep school in Red Springs, N. C.) she served as Vice President of the Senior Class. She worked on the Noninating and Fine Arts Committees as well.

Keep an eye out for Tippy. She'll be the one with her flat in her mouth.

Dr. Graham Lectures At Winthrop Discusses Infantile Nutrition

Dr. George Gordon Graham, author of 53 articles and four books on infant nutrition, lectured at Winthrop College on Tuesday (Nov. 4).

The lectures, arranged through Winthrop's School of Home Economics, were under the auspices of the American Medical Association Council on Foods and Nutrition and the South Carolina Medical Association.

Over 50 dietitians from South Carolina and North Carolina attended the two lecture sessions, which each carried two hours of credit toward registration.

Certified dietitians must get 75 hours of credit every five years for registration. Hours may be gained through attendance at school and professional meetings.

Dr. Graham's 4 p.m. lecture was on "Dietary Protein Quality in Infants and Children." The lecture was in Thurmond Building. At 7:30 p.m., he spoke on "Infantile Malnutrition, Here, There, and Everywhere." The evening lecture was in Recital Hall.

Dr. Graham, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, is presently professor of International Health at the Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health as well as associate professor of pediatrics in the School of Medicine.

He is also director of research at the British American Hospital in Lima, Peru, and is the associate chief pediatrician at the Baltimore City Hospital.

Dr. Graham is a member of a number of professional organizations, including the American Institute of Nutrition, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Society of Pediatric Research, and the American Society for Clinical Nutrition.

Since 1966 he has served on the Committee on Amino Acids of the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences and the National Research Council.

He is a consultant in nutrition for the Agency for International Development and for the Office of International Research of the National Institutes of Health.

He is on the editorial board of the Journal of Nutrition.

Winthrop Moratorium Committee representative evaluated the Southern Regional "Workshop For Peace" Conference in Atlanta. The meetings were held at the West Hunter St. Baptist Church Oct. 31-Nov. 1. Speakers included: David Hawk of The Moratorium Committee, Jim Bevel of the SCLC, and Ron Young of The Non-Violent Action.

November Moratorium plans were discussed. The "Mass March on the Capital" is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 15, with the rally being held at the Washington Monument.

Thursday, Nov. 13, state representatives begin the "March Against Death" from Arlington Cemetery. The two-day march will conclude on the Capitol steps.

Winthrop students Marjane Lancaster, Janet Nott, and Kay Schenkel were among the 24 students from South Carolina. Other states represented were: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Tennessee.

Mystery Professor And Wife Selected Ideal Couple

BY SARAH POMER

The last Mystery professor for the time being lived on a farm as a young boy. He used to name his chickens, and could call them by name, and only those who were called came. His favorite chickens were "Nieder" and "Chickadee". He used to take his nap outside when the weather was good, if he did sleep outside his dog would sleep with him. In addition to his chickens the mystery professor had four ducks all of whom were named. He said that he used to ride the cows in from pasture. In the third grade he moved to the town, where he got in trouble the first day, when he and another boy got into a fight. At about twelve years old he was considered the fastest draw when playing cowboys and Indians. He was also the boxing champion in his neighborhood after beating up a boy half his size, who was the only one who would fight him. At about 15 he moved back out of town again. He had a very traumatic experience in the third class weeks of school there when he made his first C in math, missing a B by half a point.

The Mystery Professor always played sports especially baseball. Once while coming back from a high school wrestling match he and his wrestling coach were caught drug racing through a town at 1:00. He and his wife were elected Mr. and Mrs. Nervousville Sr. High because they were considered the ideal couple. They were married after his first year of college. He went to N. C. State University where he was majoring in chemical engineering. He never studied and when he finally decided to try study he was already failing every thing.

He finally got a 1.11 GPA, and was failed by a computer. This was a mistake, which greatly upset his wife's aunt who was planning to give him a scholarship the next year. She threatened to stop all of her scholarships and keep the state from "squandering any more of her money." Standing with a bad GPA he had trouble bringing it up so that he could go to graduate school. He finally went to graduate school at Florida State, where he almost lost his degree twice "For running his mouth."

Dr. Mary Wylie Ford, Chairman of the Physical Education Department at Winthrop, will attend the fall board meeting of the Division of Girls and Women's Sports of the American Association of Health November 2-4.

Dr. Ford will travel to Washington, D. C. for the meeting to be held at the NEA Building in Washington. Dr. Ford will serve as Parliamentarian at the conference.

Faculty Attend-

Miss Jean Mundy, assistant professor in the Physical Education Department, presented two papers on recreation and physical education for the mentally retarded at the Southeastern Conference on Recreation and Physical Education for the Retarded held October 23rd in Birmingham, Alabama.

Six members of the English Department attended the South Atlantic Modern Language Association annual meeting in Atlanta, Georgia November 6, 7, 8.

Those attending were Miss Ann Sevier, Mr. Roger Goddard, Mr. Billy Milson, Mr. Timothy Weish, Mr. Jack Weaver, and Dr. Robert Lane.

All teachers of college English and foreign languages are entitled to join the association.

Education Meet Held

A meeting to inform freshmen who want to major in Elementary Education about the program will be held Tuesday, November 11, at 7:00 in Withers Auditorium, according to Mrs. Carolyn Tutwiler, coordinator of academic advising for the school of Education.

Mrs. Tutwiler said that any upperclassmen interested in Elementary Education are welcome, also.

P. E. Dept. News: Winthrop Golf Team Wins Match, Professor Presents Two Papers

Two members of the Winthrop Women's Golf team made excellent showings last week at the 11th annual Virginia Collegiate Invitational Golf Tournament held at the Augusta Country Club in Ingleside Resort, announced Mrs. Mary Gover, team coach.

Miss Millie Keeter, W. C. freshman from Shelby, N. C., placed third in the tourney with a score of 82. Miss Kathy Hite, W. C. senior from Florence, S. C., placed fifth with a 84.

Mrs. Baldwin College hosted thirty-two college women representing twelve different colleges in the 18-hole event. Mrs. Gover won a special nine hole event for coaches with a score of 55.

The Winthrop Women's Golf Team won a duo match event last Tuesday from Queens College at the Cashewwood Golf Course in Charlotte.

In the singles matches all the Winthrop representatives defeated Queens College's top five for an overall 10 1/2 to 5 1/2 point victory.

Nancy Inabnet, Jane Lewis, Ann Felton and Marsha Watson all racked up consecutive victories for W. C. combining their scores for the overall victory.

ACP Miami Convention Hosts 1500 Students

Eight staff members from the "Teller" and "The Johnsonian" attended the 45th annual Conference of the Associated Collegiate Press and National Council of College Publications in Miami Beach, Florida, from October 30th until November 1st.

The staff members from the "Teller" are Jane Freeman, Karen Curtis, editor and Rosemary Alken.

The Winthrop group left for Miami from Charlotte early Thursday morning and arrived in Miami that afternoon.

On Thursday night a Luna Buffet Dinner and Entertainment were offered by the Ford Motor Company. During the intermission there was a drawing of twenty names of people to win the use of a new Ford for two weeks. Karen Curtis was one of the lucky winners.

All day Friday the group attended meetings in such assorted fields as advertising, newspaper writing, yearbooks, photography and magazine. The meetings lasted from 9:00 until 5:30.

The staff members of both publications say that they learned a lot from attending the conference, not only from the meetings, but from exchanging ideas with representatives from other schools.

Mary Ann Anderson, editor of "The Johnsonian" says that she is planning to use many of these new ideas in the coming issues of "The Johnsonian."
